Profile

I am a student and currently pursuing B.Tech in Computer Science & Engineering (CSE). I have a passion for computer programming and information technology. I've used computer programming since I was in school. This passion has given me the ability to develop programs for many things including robots, programming languages and databases.

My other love is information technology. I have many planes to implement new technology in my life such as computing and managing IT services.

I am ready to learn new things and get involved in new projects which can help me to learn or apply what I have learned throughout my college career.
